Grand Central Market opened its doors in 1917 and has been in continuous operation ever since. In celebration of its 100th anniversary, the Market will be host a day-long celebration Friday October 27th 2017. The festivities begin at 9:30 a.m. with the unveiling of a massive, 100-layer birthday cake created by Valerie Confections with free slices for everyone. Vendors will be serving up menu items and specials inspired by the food hall's history and the number 100. Live music will represent the different decades of the Market's history, and there will be a vintage photo booth, costume contest for prizes commemorative lapel pins, a book signing of The Grand Central Market Cookbook, and more. For a complete schedule, entertainment lineup and additional information, click here.

Oktoberfest is coming to Pershing Square in Downtown LA on Saturday October 21st and Sunday October 22nd. Spend the weekend living it up with us during this fun, cultural event! The park will be filled with local breweries and an authentic German Beer from Paulaner, all paired with traditional bratwursts and pretzels and delicious Thai-Mexican fusion. Admission is free, and all ages are welcome. Tasting packages will be available for sale, but you're free to come and just enjoy the music!

Mayor Eric Garcetti has recently launched a new online portal that will help the City maximize the value of its property, and more efficiently provide options for affordable housing, homeless service facilities, and other priorities. The comprehensive, searchable property database will enable staff to manage City property more effectively, and allow the public to track the development of community assets like police and fire stations, libraries and public parks. The portal is available at lacity.org/property. The project is being led by Mayor Garcetti's Operations Innovation Team (O-Team) and the Department of General Services, and is a part of a larger movement to improve efficiency and transparency in the City's real estate management operations. Over the last 18 months, the O-team has collaborated with public and private stakeholders to update and improve data related to City-owned property.
